ABOUT CANCERVIVE FOUNDATION OF ALBERTA

Cancervive is a non-profit organization established to raise awareness and support for Canadian Cancer Survivors and their families. The Cancervive Foundation of Alberta is the umbrella organization that administers and directs Cancervive activities. Brian McGregor started CTAPP (Calgary to Austin Peloton Project) in 2005 and it became Cancervive in 2007. Riders, volunteers and supporters have many reasons for participating in Cancervive. They get involved because they are a cancer survivor, because they lost someone to cancer, because someone they love has cancer, and because they want to ride for a good cause.
